Looking Backward Twenty-Four Years

MONDAY

Mrs Robert Kettlerwell has been chosen to teach the children of the public school at Casa Grande for the year ending June 30, 1891. Mr Kettlerwell is still at Casa Grande.

The family of C S Clark, who are exiled in the Huachuca with many other town people, report by telephone that they are well and happy.

The Noyes Bros of Fairbank, lost seventy-five tons of alfalfa hay in the recent flood.

A dispatch received at the office of the stage company last night from G W Beach stated that there would be a mail and express from the west at Mill's ranch today.

A busker named Hughes, whose home is on the top of the Chiricahua mountains, brought in seven bear scalps today, which will bring him in $42 from the county in shape of a bounty.

Joshua Kirlow is bringing in some very sweet grapes from his fruit farm just below town. They find ready sale.

H C Herrick says that it is a great country where a man has to fight for water nine months in the year and fight against it the other 3 months.

The city authorities have figured the total outstanding indebtedness of Tombstone for the use of the local commissioners in funding the indebtedness into five per cent paper. The total amount, including interest, approximates $30,000 in round figures.

TUESDAY

BORN—In Tombstone, August 6, to the wife of L A Smith, a son.

Mr A P Wade of the Contention mill will leave just as soon as the roads are passable, for San Francisco. His health is very poor and he hopes, as do his friends, that he will soon recover his usual sound condition.

The bridge at Charleston was not washed by the flood as has been reported, but with the exception of about twenty feet gone from the center, is in good condition. This center portion was carried away by the timber from a bridge above, striking it and carrying it along during the first heavy rain a week ago. Frank Ryan who passed there a day or two ago, thinks timber could be thrown across the break, making it passable.

Kemmler was cremated in New York yesterday for killing his wife. A hole was burned into his backbone by electricity, after which his heart, lungs and liver were cut out. He is in a fair way to recover and will be, no doubt, placed on exhibition in all of the large cities. A Chiricahua Apache could give Edison pointers on how to torture prisoners.

A detachment of troops from Huachuca, who have been scouting the country in search of Indian signs, passed through Tombstone today, on their return to the post. They report having seen no sign. The troops stationed at Bisbee have been ordered back to their quarters and will pull up stakes tomorrow.

WEDNESDAY

D H McNeil is hunting for some one to pay him for the use of his pump, etc., at the auxiliary well at the city water works. His property was used by Bushford & Ashman and the city council has been asked to pay for it. The question has been referred to the building committee.

The scouts which went through town this morning were from Rucker, and could talk English as well as the ordinary run of natives of the country. They were very much interested in the pictures in front of Fly's gallery, where they congregated as soon as they arrived in town.

The road to the Horrobel mine dump was washed out during Thursday night's storm and it will cost $300 to repair it.

Adolph Cohn, who prepared to go to the Huachuca mountains after his family, gave up the idea yesterday morning upon hearing that the river was impassable.

Oot Wm Herring left for Tucson this morning. He was driven down to Benson by his son Howard. If the Southern Pacific train are not running he will go on from Benson by private conveyance.

Phoenix carried off the honors at the Douglas rifle shoot. They won the shield and Sergeant Jackson McKeen of that club was awarded the prize for the highest score. The Ninth cavalry came second. Tucson Douglas and Bisbee did not make good showings.

Everyone who predicted a dry season in Southern Arizona has gone mad.

G D Reppy has been appointed deputy collector at La Noria.

J V Vickers and family left for the ranch in the Sulphur Spring valley. Mr Vickers will be back next Tuesday.

THURSDAY

The water main from Sycamore Springs, where it crosses Walnut gulch, was caught by some bridge timbers during Friday night's flood and snapped in two. The break was mended the next day without much trouble.

There were about 15 passengers delayed at Benson, who managed to get away last Saturday night after a week's rest at the Virginia hotel.

The rate of taxation for Cochise county will be fixed by the board of supervisors on the 25th inst.

Several Mexican families have moved up from Fairbank to await the rebuilding of the town before returning.

All of the passengers speak highly of their treatment by Mr Castaneda of Benson, during the washouts on the S P road. The accommodations at his hotel are first class and he misses no opportunity to make his guests feel at home.

John Doe enriched the county treasury today in the sum of $25 for the privilege of raising a lump on the under lip of Miss Doe with his fist.

Judge Cooley gave the North Dakota constitutional convention sound advice in telling it: "Don't, in your constitution-making, legislate too much." The tendency in new states, and some of the old ones, is to hasten the millennium by constitutional provisions. A constitution should be a chart for legislation, not an iron bound statute book. Popular government is impaired if not vitiated by organic law which ties the hands of the people.

FRIDAY

Tucson has captured the earth and now wants the N M and A railroad to abandon the present line from Calabazas to Benson and build direct from Calabazas to Tucson. If the Tucsonians would stop to consider that the N M and A Railroad handles more freight to and from Tombstone in a year than the S P handles in and out of Tucson in the same time, they would open such foolishness and build a wagon road to Calabazas over which a man could travel without feeling compelled to take out an accident policy.

Some of the papers of the Territory object to the funding act because it does not provide for funding into bonds bearing three per cent per annum instead of five per cent. It is safe to say that every man making such a gaudy pretext for opposition, has his overcoat in soak on a basis of three per cent a month.

The Yuma Times objects to the moving of the capital from Phoenix to that town, on account of the heat in the Salt River valley. Its objection is based on the fact that it already has the penitentiary there and could not possibly exist with a lot of questionable characters in addition turned loose on the community every two years.

There were about seventy washouts between Pantano and Dragon Summit on Saturday and on Sunday trains were running.

The Tucson Citizen shows a marked improvement under its change of management.

Hearing Application For Injunction

A San Francisco dispatch says: Judge W H Swetelle of the U S court in Arizona, Judge William W Morrow of the circuit court of appeals and Judge Van Fleet of the U S district court are sitting in San Francisco, hearing the application of Ida Van Dyke for an injunction against the Arizona Corporation Commission. Stoneham and Ling represent the plaintiff and George Purdy Ballard the commission. The action attacks the validity of the act creating the corporation commission.

Phoenix Got Honors

Phoenix carried off the honors at the Douglas rifle shoot. They won the shield and Sergeant Jackson McKeen of that club was awarded the prize for the highest score. The Ninth cavalry came second. Tucson Douglas and Bisbee did not make good showings.

Al Godfrey, of Tombstone, was appointed Justice of the Peace of Tombstone precinct No 1, to take effect immediately, in place of Judge D W McFarland, resigned.

Work Steadily Progressing

That the European war is not having any effect on the Tombstone district is shown by the fact that all the leather are still at work, regardless of the fact that the ore cannot be shipped at the present time. Development and clean-up work is still progressing at the various shafts of the Copper Queen company, and within the next few days a crew of about 20 men is to be set to work building a spur of track to the Silver Plume properties, back of the town shaft. And that the great Phelps-Dodge company has faith in the old camp is evident.

Will Not Close Down

As nearly as can be ascertained there will be no general shut down in the Globe and Miami districts as a result of the European war and the fluctuations in the price of copper. But there will be something of a curtailment of production. Even this, it is hoped, will be temporary.

WEDNESDAY

Smallpox Breaks Out in Bisbee

BISBEE, Aug. 12, 1914—Six cases of Smallpox were reported in the district today, with all already under quarantine. Two cases of infantile paralysis have also broken out. The smallpox situation is well under hand by the health authorities and the houses have been put under quarantine, with heavy guard, and the patients removed to the pest house. The two cases of infantile paralysis have been quarantined, and while the condition here is alarming to the people, there is nothing to fear, according to the authorities. However people fearing infection have had their houses quarantined and vaccination is going on by the wholesale.
